In solemn atmosphere, Deputy Chairman of the Cabinet of Ministers head of the Akhalteke Horse-Breeding and «Türkmen alabaý itleri» International Associations Serdar Berdymuhamedov has cut a traditional ribbon – signaling thereby the opening of a new core facility.

The ground floor of the building accommodates the Center's Museum of original sculptures and picturesque depictions of Akhalteke horses and Turkmen Alabay dogs, as well as the thematic carpet canvases.

Special place in the exposition is occupied by the carpet with the woven poem of President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov «Türkmen alabaýy».

On display are also the wonderful samples of horse decorations – the evidences of boundless love and anxious attitude of the Turkmen people to their horse-runners. The age-old tradition to decorate horses has continued to this day in the national culture, being revived in the works of the modern talented masters-jewelers. At one time, such decorations were applied to perform the protective function of a mascot.

The horse coaches show great responsibility in selecting the horse saddles and decorations, the samples of which were also demonstrated.

While making a get acquainted round of the Center's library, the participants of the ceremony were introduced to the literary works of President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov translated into different languages of the world and which evoked huge interest of the global community. In this regard worth of mentioning are the books devoted to the 'heavenly horses' and Alabay dogs: "Akhalteke horse – our pride and glory", "Rushlike pace of horse runner", "Horse – a symbol of faithfulness and happiness", "Turkmen Alabay Dog". Being an embodiment of inextricable link of the times, the remarkable works of the leader of nation tell about the unique historic-cultural heritage of the Turkmen people, its wise old traditions, and bright creativity.

The rich book holdings of the fully-computerized library provide to the users a wide access to the library's resources, special scientific and methodological literature. The library collections include also the periodicals and other publications devoted to the Akhalteke race horses and Alabay dogs.

The library's three-language electronic site is updated every day with information about Akhalteke racers and Alabay dogs, the images of which are imprinted in the national folklore. Thus, the site systematically publishes different legends included into the President-authored books.

Further, the participants headed to the second floor of the Center, which accommodates the office rooms and specialized sophisticated premises intended for conducting sessions, other measures, meetings and forums of international character, including the ones in the online format.

The session of the International Association «Türkmen alabaý itleri» has been held in the conference hall of the new Center. Further, the floor was given to the leading specialist of the Ministry of Culture, a member of the International Association «Türkmen alabaý itleri» Agamyrat Baltayev. The book “Turkmen Alabay” written by the head of state is used as a reference book in the study, revivification, updating, and popularization of the dog breed, the speaker noted. Numerous archaeological findings made during excavations of famous historical and cultural monuments, as well as ancient manuscripts, confirm the antiquity and origin of the breed, the spokesman said.

As it is noted in that remarkable book the age-old national practice and method of Turkmen Alabay dog breeding deserve to be included into the UNESCO Immaterial Human Cultural Heritage List.

As a result of the recent scientific studies, the statuettes of Turkmen Alabay dog of the Antiquity period have been discovered in the territory of ancient settlement Paryzdepe close to Ashgabat. Similar pictures of various hunt moments are also met in the ancient settlement Chatalguyuk in Turkey. But the pictures in Pessejikdepe are brighter and older.

breeder Mekan Gurbandurdyev, Chairman of the Society for preservation of “Uzbek wolfhound” of the Republic of Uzbekistan Akobir Shukurov, Head of the “Caucasian Dogs Fanciers” Society from the Republic of Azerbaijan Ilham Gazimzade in their speeches have highlighted the importance of works ongoing in Turkmenistan at the state level and under the leadership of President of the country on preservation of the national heritage.
