concerned to provide strict control over high-level organization of all festive events.

Further, Deputy Chairman of the Cabinet of Ministers B. Ovezov has reported on the measures taken to ensure well-organized celebration of Day of Ashgabat.

According to the orders of the head of state, a great number of “Hyundai All News Super Aero City” buses and “Toyota Corolla” taxi cars, which would work inside the capital and between the cities, have been bought for provision of transport services.

Worth of noting is the fact that on the holiday day the buses working inside the city rendered transport services free of charge, being a pleasant surprise for the residents and guests of the city.

In the comments on the report, President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov has ordered to take appropriate measures for raising the quality of the passenger handling services.

Deputy Chairman of the Cabinet of Ministers, Foreign Minister R. Meredov has reported on keeping work going for further implementation of neutral Turkmenistan's political course, in which an important role is assigned to the capital of the country.

Ashgabat is famous as a center of international cooperation, the venue of hosting important forums and meetings of regional and global character. In this regard, necessary infrastructure has been created in the capital.

In this context, not the least significant is fruitful cooperation with diplomatic missions and representatives of international organizations, which number is always increasing in Turkmenistan. Thus, at present the relevant work is kept going for opening in Ashgabat of the UN Representative Offices for Project Services (UNOPS), the UN Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO), and the International Renewable Energy Agency (IRENA).

In the frames of cooperation with the UNESCO, in the second half of the year, the decision is expected to be adopted on inclusion of the Turkmen capital to the UNESCO Smart City Network in the "Design" category.

Under-development is the National Plan of Strengthening Cooperation in various directions between our capital and 11 foreign cities, with which twin-city and friendly relations have been establishment. The issue is also under consideration on acceding of Ashgabat to the international organization "United Cities and Local Governments" (UCLG). On top of that, the possibilities are discussed of instituting in the capital of the Volunteer Center for motivating healthy and active life style of the people and ecological wealth.

Further, addressing the participants of the session, President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov has again highlighted the importance of the 140th anniversary of Ashgabat, which is observed these days.

We are proud of our capital. Over a short period of time, Ashgabat has changed beyond recognition; much attention is paid to the development of the main city of the country in the last years, the head of state stressed.

Huge financial resources are invested to the development of the capital; the city's boundaries are systematically expanding. World famous foreign companies are attracted to construction of the facilities in the capital, the head of state said.

Social infrastructure of the capital – schools, kindergartens, medical centers, sport complexes – is the sector of our paramount importance, the head of state highlighted. Not the least important are the issues of ecological wealth, nature protection, and enhancement of the boundaries of parks, squares, and forest belts.

The President of the country has also highlighted that the City Development Concept envisages careful treatment of the capital's historical part, restoration and rehabilitation of its buildings, preservation of the original distinctive image of Ashgabat.

Having noted great merits of Ashgabat residents in improvement of the beauty and comfort in the native city, the head of Turkmenistan has informed about signing the Ukase on conferring the government awards on the citizens for achieving high results in their meritorious labor.

The leader of nation has also signed a number of documents, which include the Resolution on construction of the "Ashgabat City" residential Complex in the north of the capital. In tune with the Resolution, to exercise control over construction objects of the "Ashgabat City" residential Complex, the Construction Directorate is established under the Ministry of Construction and Architecture.

President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov has also signed the Order on announcing the contest among the velayats, towns with etrap-status, and etraps of Ashgabat for achieving in 2021 of the highest results and indicators in the social, economic and cultural spheres.

The leader of nation gave solemnly startup to the construction of "Ashgabat City" and took part in inauguration of a new residential complex

On May 25, on the Day of Ashgabat holiday and 140th anniversary of the capital, President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov took part in the solemn events on the occasion of laying of the foundation stone of large residential complex "Ashgabat City" and in inauguration of a new residential complex of two-story houses built in the northern part of Ashgabat.

The event was attended by the Chairperson of Mejlis of Milli Gengesh, heads of military and law enforcement agencies, ministries and core departments, representatives of administration of the capital, social organizations and mass media.

Addressing the people assembled, the President of Turkmenistan has highlighted that the Day of our white-marble capital – Ashgabat, which is the pride of each Turkmenistan's citizen, is countrywide celebrated today.

Today, we lay the foundation stone of the complex of beautiful buildings and facilities, which will be erected in the northern part of the capital. This large-scale residential Complex with total area of 744 hectares can be named 'a city in the city', for its would-be 200 objects of different purposes will form the urban infrastructure with all amenities for comfortable living.

In the frames of the infrastructure plans, construction will be implemented of the building of district administration and other facilities, four kindergartens (1,200- children total capacity) and the same number of schools (3,000-student capacity), a Culture Club, and a sport complex with 5,000-capacity stadium.

In addition, it is planned to erect new buildings of the Turkmen National Conservatory and a specialized music school, multi-profile hospital, two Health Centers, two trade-entertainment centers, shops, four multi-level car parking lots, as well as the bank branches of the State Commercial “Türkmenbaşy” and “Halkbank”.

180 fashionable high-risers (12-35-story buildings of eight modifications with 17,836 apartments to accommodate over 107,000 tenants) are planned to be built in the Complex.

The main entrance to the residential Complex will be represented by the circular bridge with metal construction in the shape of the traditional Turkmen yurta «ak öý» - a symbol of hospitality and breadth of soul of our people as well as of its openness to friendship and fraternity.

In addition, construction is projected of the Children’s Creativity Center, a park, facilities of transport infrastructure, municipal services, engineering and communications systems, interior roads, the head of state noted. Thus, a whole modern town “Ashgabat City” will appear in this place in the next few years.

Our white-marble capital is to become not only one of the most beautiful and comfortable cities for living, but we are also to turn into the advanced megalopolis. It should be reflected in its exterior appearance and optimum operation of all systems of social provision. It is necessary to actively involve into the project young specialists with innovative thinking, in particular the students of the Turkmen State Architecture and Construction Institute and the State Arts Academy.

Pending the subject, President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov has focused attention of the event participants on the issues related to urban ecology, turning of Ashgabat into the blossoming garden, introduction of optimum mechanisms of revamping of the environment, widespread adoption of the advanced world practice and resources, energy-saving technologies, which are the tasks of top priority for the entire world community today.

President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov has highlighted that much is to be done prior to start construction of a new ‘city-enclave’. Having made detailed analysis of seismic situation, the scientists of the Academy of Sciences are to set optimum number of stories of would-be buildings, and the project designers – are to replicate the construction sites on the maps.

It is also necessary to open a core enterprise, which will manage this large-scale work, and provide it with high-qualified specialists capable to design the facilities and buildings to be built, to find out the sources the construction materials can be obtained from under the conditions of coronavirus pandemic. In this context, it is necessary to find out the ways of delivery from abroad of construction materials, which are not produced in our country.

In this regard, the leader of nation has also outlined the task for the Ministry of Agriculture and Environment Protection – to determine the sources of water supply to the population, for irrigating green plantations and functioning of the fountains in the “Ashgabat City”.

The President of Turkmenistan has signed a message to the successors on the occasion of the current remarkable event, which was placed in a special capsule.

To the storm of applause, having put the capsule and thrown the first shovels of concrete into the foundation, the leader of nation gave a symbolic startup to the construction of the new residential Complex.

Having said warm goodbye to the participants of the ceremony, the head of state with his associates in a new bus headed to the place of the next event – the opening of 140 two-story-house residential complex, which was build in the Choganly residential district, Bagtiyarlyk etrap of the capital.

Joyful atmosphere also reigns in the new complex of residential buildings. The participants of the event have cordially greeted the head of the Turkmen state.

To the chorus of applause, the leader of nation cuts the traditional ribbon – the new residential complex is opened! Its launching was an excellent present to the residents of the capital timed to the confluence of two holidays. Therefore, the number of houses (140), in which happy families have celebrated house-warming parties, is symbolical.

The leader of nation has examined the well-built edifices, which were erected in tune with the times and visited one of the houses, in which he was cordially welcomed by the happy family, which moved to the new house.

The head of the family has said that he is a doctor and his wife also works in the national health system. The new-settlers expressed heartfelt gratitude to the head of state for his all-round care of the people.

Having congratulated the hosts of new house, the Turkmen leader has presented the hosts with the gifts and wished the family wealth, health and success. In turn, the new-settlers presented the President of the country with traditional Turkmen gift ‘duvuncheck’.

On completion of his get-acquainted examination of the new residential area, President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov has said warm goodbye to the participants of the ceremony and left the place of event.

The President of Turkmenistan has avowed the initiatives on ensuring global ecological safety

On May 25, President of Turkmenistan Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov took part in the High-Level Global Roundtable forum on the subject “Extractive Industries as a Locomotive of Sustainable Development”, which was conducted in the online format by United Nations Secretary-General António Guterres.

The high-level meeting concludes a series of 'round tables' held over the past few months by the UN Regional Economic Commissions in the frames of the "Initiatives on financing development in the COVID-19 epoch and beyond (FFDI)".

The Forum brought together the heads of state and governments, heads of international organizations, academicians and analysts, representatives of the private sector and civil society. Its key goal is to identify concrete actions and recommendations that can be implemented at the global, regional, and national levels to address the challenges of climate change that have negative impact on the "Agenda till 2030".

The key topic of discussion is the extractive industries, including the oil, gas and mining industries, which are assigned to play a crucial role in reducing the greenhouse gas emissions into the atmosphere. At the same time, special attention was paid to the issues of funding the SDGs, rehabilitation and diversification of economies in the post-crisis period caused by COVID-19 pandemic, as well as to efficient management of natural resources, transition to 'green energy', investment in clean and renewable energy sources, technologies and innovations.

In his speech, President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov has underlined that fully sharing the anxiety about the negative impact of industrial emissions, Turkmenistan consistently and resolutely advocates the closest coordination and coherence of international efforts aimed at minimization of the risks and challenges existing in this regard.

-We believe that in this case, a key factor is the invariable and universal adherence to the Paris Agreement on climate change, President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov said. Having acceded to that fundamental document, Turkmenistan has actively taken the strides toward contentious cooperation with the UN and other specialized international structures in its comprehensive implementation.

Currently, in tune with the commitments under the Paris Agreement, the Fourth National Communication on Climate Change and the First Biennial Communication are developed in Turkmenistan with the support of the United Nations Environment Program and the United Nations Development Program. It is planned that both documents will be submitted to the UN Secretariat at the outset of 2023.

- Together with the United Nations Industrial Development Organization, Turkmenistan carries out the preparatory work on the implementation of the two major projects on the ozone layer protection. Now and in the long term, we are ready to closely cooperate with the within-named and other international structures, all interested states, - the head of Turkmenistan stated.

Being one of the world's largest resource-producing countries and fully conscious of our responsibility in this regard, Turkmenistan makes all necessary efforts to maintain the balance between the production goals and environment protection tasks.

The updated National Strategy of Turkmenistan on Climate Change, adopted in 2019, provided all necessary legal, organizational and technological conditions for the implementation of environmental objectives, served as the basis for a radical expansion of the list of adaptation measures.

Today, this list covers almost the entire system of economic and industrial activity of the public and private sectors of the national economy.

Over recent years, the intensity of the industry manufacturing the carbonaceous products steadily decreases in Turkmenistan. That is vividly proved by the data presented by President Gurbanguly Berdymuhamedov. By expert evaluations implemented in the frames of the Third National Communication of Turkmenistan, in the prospects till 2030 the economic growth will be accompanied by decrease in the share of energy consumption per unit of GDP. Thus, a downward trend is expected in the growth rate of carbon dioxide emissions to 122 percent in 2025 and to 118.1 percent – in 2030.

The Turkmen leader has then emphasized that in our country to mitigate climate impacts, the adaptation measures to restore the forests and improve land use are widespread adopted. In the frames of the Nation-wide "Green Belt" Program, the vast forest belts have been created around the cities using the progressive water-saving irrigation methods. In the running year alone, it is planned to plant 30 million seedlings in the country.

In this context, reaffirming its firm adherence to integration and strengthening of international efforts in front of the present serious environmental threats, our country proposes a number of concrete and urgent steps.

In particular, it seems advisable to start working out of the UN Strategy aimed at implementing of the measures on encouraging of the low-carbon energy industry development.

The second proposal is the creation under the auspices of the UN of an international «Road Map» for the development of hydrogen as one of the priority directions in the energy sector.

As the initiator of these proposals, Turkmenistan is ready to start discussing the ways and criteria for their implementation at the expert level in the nearest future, the leader of nation stressed.

The video-address of the President of Turkmenistan was welcomed by the forum participants.

Thus, neutral Turkmenistan, in the person of its leader, has reaffirmed its commitment to constructive cooperation within the framework of the United Nations, demonstrating the balanced, farsighted approaches to the solution of urgent problems of the modern world.

It is necessary to continue participation in the conventions, programs and resolutions of the reputable organizations on protection of environment and ecology, the leader of nation noted. Of no less importance is keeping the work going on stabilization of the ecological situation in the regions affected by the Aral Sea's negative impact.

Development of the Draft National Forest Program for 2021-2025 is also among the tasks of priority. The two Chambers of the National Parliament are to work together in this direction and analyze the relevance of the document to legislative requirements, the head of Turkmenistan highlighted.
